

Joint Congress 2001

OPENING CEREMONY

May 17th, 2001, Vienna Konzerthaus

The Bohuzlav Martinu Philharmonie Zlin (Moravia) goes regularly on concert tours through the Czech Republic and in addition gives concerts throughout Europe. It frequently plays for radio broadcastings, makes recordings and gives guest performances with international conductors and soloists (e.g. Mstislav Rostropovich)

Norbert Pfaffmayer studied music and medicine in Vienna. He graduated from the conductors class of Professor Reinhard Schwarz at the Vienna Conservatory and attended master courses with Gennadi Roshdeswensky and Hans Graf. In 1982 he worked as assistant to Ernst Märzendorfer in Salzburg. He frequently appeared in concerts as conductor of the Wiener Tonkunstvereinigung (1984-1990) and the orchestra of the Badener Musikfreunde (1981-1991).

Bojana Jurcekova was born in Zlin, Czech Republic in 1973. Her family had a long tradition of making music. She studied flute and piano at the Conservatory of Brno for 6 years and at the University of Prague for 2 years. She won many prizes during her studies, e.g. 1989 Prague, 1991 Udine, 1992 London (first prize). At the age of 17 she won the solo flute competition of the theatre of Brno. Later on she studied voice and started performing in musicals and operettas. 1997 she had her first appearance in an opera. She now lives in Germany and gives many concerts with orchestras. Tonight is her first appearance in Vienna.
